

The Klean Team is proud to announce that Atrium Innovations has received The 2016 Nutrition Business Journal® Award for Achievement in Science and Innovation.

Click here to read the Nutrition Business Journal Awards article.

Atrium Innovations will officially accept this award during the annual NBJ Summit, June 13-16 in Dana Point, California.

The Klean Athlete® collection of products was born from the knowledge that the world's top athletes rely on the quality, innovation and manufacturing excellence of Atrium Innovations' brands to support their athletic endeavors.† From the beginning, Klean Athlete has been dedicated to providing formulas that are proven through sound science, and are tested and certified through our partner, NSF International™, and their prestigious NSF Certified for Sport® program.

Just as our Klean Athlete community is always pushing it to the limit to achieve their goals, Atrium Innovations is constantly working to advance the science behind every product developed. We couldn't be more proud to celebrate this fantastic achievement as an Atrium Innovations brand.

Click here to learn more about Atrium Innovations Research Program.

About Nutrition Business Journal

Nutrition Business Journal's exclusive research and editorial focus on the strategic issues of the nutrition industry has made it a leading business intelligence resource for subscribers since 1996. To purchase detailed market research reports, subscribe to the NBJ, or sign up for the NBJ's free weekly e-newsletter, please visit www.nutritionbusinessjournal.com.